New Camera Makes Photo in One Minute

Finished Picture Is Equal to the Dark Room Products.

NEW YORK. — A revolutionary new camera, which turns out a finished picture one minute after the shutter is snapped, accomplishing in a single step all the processing operations of ordinary photography, was demonstrated here before the Optical Society of America by its inventor, Edwin H. Land of Boston, the discoverer of Polaroid.

Several types have been built, Land said. The inventor demonstrating a portrait type and also one of the size frequently carried by news photographers, said the process could be adapted to any camera and possibly to making motion pictures.

The camera produces a fully-finished picture, of the same quality as if developed and printed by darkroom technique.

The one-step camera, which uses ordinary silver-bromide film, has its secret in a tiny module of chemicals that produces all the ordinary developing and printing steps inside the camera.

After the picture is snapped, the inventor explained, the film rolls onto a piece of special photographic paper, with the two face to face, and in contact, and with the capsule between them. The capsule breaks and the contents spread between the film and photographic paper.

The capsule spreads out the ordinary developer of the silver halide and the "hypo" so familiar to photographers.

Also contained are chemicals that control the size of the silver grains that make the picture, the color of the print, that prevent discoloration and that make the process work over a wide range of temperatures.

Land said motion pictures and color pictures have not been made, but that the principles are applicable to both.

Two Sisters Becoming Boys, Doctor Asserts

CAPETOWN, SOUTH AFRICA —Dr. W. P. Steenkamp said that two sisters living in Lansdowne became brothers in the last few months.

Dr. Steenkamp said that several months ago the sisters, aged 15 and 17, started undergoing physical changes. A series of operations is being performed now to permit full male development.

The girls are pleased with the transformation and have taken the names David and Daniel Muller. David wants to join the army, but David said he probably would go on working in a factory.

New Gold Rush On in Alaska; Prospectors Are U. S. Soldiers

FAIRBANKS, ALASKA. — There is a new gold rush in Alaska which rivals in enthusiasm, if not in rich strikes, the famous rush of '49.

Today's prospectors are soldiers stationed in Alaska. Their gold rush is sponsored by the USO and is classed as off-duty recreation. But that doesn't keep the G.I. "sourdoughs" from hoping to strike it rich.

Confronted by soldiers freshly arrived from the United States for postwar duty and demanding "the shortest way to an undiscovered gold mine," the USO leased eight old mining claims near Fairbanks. There the off-duty miners pan for gold and dream of the day they become millionaires.

USO hostesses, most of them native Alaskans, drive the soldiers as far as possible over rough mountain roads in station wagons. On the last part of the trip to the claims, the G.I.s have to pack their pans and shovels through the gorges just as the old-timers did.

Youth Dragged Behind Car; Four Held for Auto 'Gag'

PHILADELPHIA. — Seventeen-year-old Ernest Ulrich, who police said had been tied by a rope to the rear of an automobile and forced to run behind it four blocks before he fell and was battered into unconsciousness, was reported "improved."

Meanwhile, four youths were held in $5,000 bail each on charges of assault and battery by automobile.

The youths told police they tied the rope around Ulrich "just as a gag to see how fast he could run."

Ulrich, whose clothes were torn from his body, attracted the attention of patrons of a riding academy who cut him free and took him to Methodist hospital.

Vandals Tip Over Pulpit in Church and Rip the Bible

PEORIA, ILL.—Vandals entered Hale Memorial Methodist church, tipped the pulpit over the altar rail, broke off the United States and church flags, tore the back off a bible and caused other damage throughout the building. The damage was discovered by William I. Lewis, a student who is church janitor. In the church basement, dishes sufficient for 150 persons were smashed.

Mental Cases Are Increasing

Jump Fifty Per Cent in Last Decade; Nation Short Of Proper Help.

WASHINGTON. — Eight million Americans have mental disorders "in some degree," Surgeon Gen. Thomas Parran estimated in his annual report. He said that the nation is "woefully short of personnel" to treat them.

Parran added that mental cases now fill half the hospital beds in the country, yet our existing hospitals are inadequate to care for even the most seriously ill.

He said that the number in mental hospitals had increased 50 per cent in the last 10 years.

Psychiatric disorders he said, are becoming increasingly evident as the cause of juvenile delinquency and crime "as well as personal inefficiency and unhappiness."

"We have but a fraction of the clinics and outpatient services needed to treat mild cases or to check progressive disorders before they become disabling," Parran reported.

Federal Action Cited.

Parran said passage of the national mental health act "marked the first large scale, coordinated attack," on the problem of providing adequate treatment. This act authorized construction of a mental health research center and allowed federal grants to states for development of mental hygiene services and clinics.

Another step, he said, is the hospital program approved by the last congress. This act provides for federal grants of 75 million dollars in each of the next five years for hospital construction in the states. Parran has announced that he would ask congress to make the first year's appropriations at this session.

"As we have gained victories over the major communicable diseases," Parran said, "conditions such as heart disease, cancer and diabetes have moved to the fore as causes of death. We are intensifying our efforts to combat them.

Economics Unsolved.

"There are not nearly enough physicians, dentists, nurses and other health personnel to go around, nor enough hospital beds and clinics to care for our minimum needs. Those we have are unevenly distributed, so that many areas have no doctors and no health facilities of any kind.

"And finally, we have yet to solve the economic problems of medical care; we have yet to make it possible for everyone, regardless of income, to obtain the basic services needed for the protection of his own health and that of his neighbor. These are our basic objectives of the future."

Weather Conditions Recall Travelers Had Fire Ropes

SEATTLE. — December's disastrous hotel fires in Atlanta and Saskatoon, Canada, prompted Clarence W. Johnson, Seattle, to reminisce about the "good old days" when travelers took individual precautions about hotels going up in smoke.

Johnson, a traveling salesman for many years, said seasoned tourists in the past always carried their own ropes in case of emergency.

"The old-time salesman had to know all the angles," Johnson said. "A bad fire was always a real danger in the days when most country hotels were made of wood."

Part of Johnson's luggage when he was on the road was a rope long enough to lower him from a fourth-floor window. It was knotted at regular intervals to provide handholds."

Gloucester Is in First Place In Nation's Fishing Industry

GLOUCESTER, MASS.—This 323-year-old picturesque port on the shores of granite-strewn Cape Ann paced the nation's fishing industry in 1946 for the fourth successive year.

Total fresh fish landed here in 4,507 trips by 265 vessels was 207,200,000 pounds, only 2 per cent less than the all-time record set by this city's fishermen in 1945.

Gloucester easily bested Boston, which reported catches totaling 165,914,000 pounds.

Redfish was king here with a new high of 133,391,000 pounds that overloaded freezers and resulted in a warning to fisherfolk to stop catching that variety until some of the backlog can be sold.

The industry paid out some fourteen million dollars to 3,500 fisherman and wharf workers.

Active Sons Give Father Real Busy Night as Hospital Cop

INDIANAPOLIS. — Night policeman Charley Ford of Indianapolis Methodist hospital had to help unload both of his sons at the clinic as patients.

Twelve - year - old Charles Jr. broke his left arm trying out a pair of roller skates.

An hour later the wagon brought in another son, Walter, who was injured in an automobile accident. He broke his right arm.

Major and Mrs. Eames A. Powers and daughter, Patricia; Mrs. J. E. Sears and Miss Dorothy Sears will leave Thursday for Charleston, S. C., to visit the magnolia and cypress gardens.

Robert Allen Sears has returned to VPI, Blacksburg, after a week's vacation at his home here. He is working for his Master's Degree, and also teaching construction.

IN MEMORIAM

In memory of our mother, Mrs. Z. N. Harris, who died four years ago, April 3.

You can only have one mother,
Patient, kind and true;
No other friend in all the world
Will be as true to you.

For all her loving kindness
She asked nothing in return;
If all the world deserts you,
To your mother you can turn.

Dear mother, thou hast left us,
Thy sufferings are now o'er;
At the door God home no longer
Can we gather as before.

Your busy hands are resting,
Your work on earth is done,
Your worries are all ended,
You heavenly crown is won.

Our hearts still ache with lonliness,
Our eyes shed many a tear;
God only knows how we miss you,
As it ends the fourth sad year.

- Mrs. Fred Franklin, brothers and sisters.

Museum of American Circus Is Being Planned in Florida

SARASOTA, FLA.—Work on Florida's newest showplace, the Museum of the American Circus in Sarasota, has been stepped up, Ringling Museum's Director A. Everett Austin Jr., announced.

The state board of control has granted approval of architectural plans for converting into a circus art museum a building erected by the late John Ringling.

An appropriation for circus museum construction funds has been inserted in the Ringling museum's budget which will go to the Florida state legislature for approval in April. All American circuses, as well as show people and collectors the world over will be called upon to furnish at the museum classic examples of American circus art.

Circus chariots, wagons, trapezes, programs and costumes worn by great performers will be shown in the new museum. Exhibits will include an old steam calliope, recalling the way in which outdoor shows summoned customers. While 19th century circus art will be displayed, 1947 performers — clowns, midgets, bareback riders, aerialists and such high-wire wonders as the Wallendas will be on hand.
